

Hags on Nags 2008 Runamuk Ranch Adventure

Kathy Monico, Roz Gilbert and ten other Hags on Nags riders explored the Runamuk Ranch's 18,000 acres with its ever changing terrain and weather. They rode through coulees surrounded by towering walls of ancient boulders that looked like mud frozen in time, wide meadows of hay stubble, tall wispy grass pastures dotted with sage and over Ponderosa Pine topped craggy ridges with endless vistas Contrasts were every where riders could be enjoying a relaxed ride down a well worn path under a warm sun when weather would change with showers suddenly causing anxious moments when the trail turned into a slippery grey mud. For some, a planned short ride would turn into an eight hour trek. Still it was an amazing week.

The ranch is a working cattle/horse ranch owned by Jody and Toby Dahl. The ranch has been in the Dahl family since 1886 and is located eight miles from Roundup, Montana.
